Did You Know?

A rare diamond within a diamond was recently discovered and nicknamed, "The Beating Heart." The 0.30 carat, D-color diamond has a smaller rough diamond trapped inside. The outer diamond has an internal cavity which houses the smaller diamond, so it moves freely inside it.

This fascinating formation will be kept in rough form so that it can be studied by specialists.

October Birthstones

Opal and Tourmaline

both represent the power of hope for the October born. Precious opal displays a dazzling array of vivid colors against a white or black background. Sparkling tourmaline is available in a wider variety of colors than almost any other gem.

Celestial & Zodiac Jewelry

Celestial and zodiac jewelry have been gaining popularity in recent years. These unique pieces of jewelry are inspired by the stars, planets, and constellations in our universe.

Celestial jewelry is often adorned with symbols of the moon, stars, and sun. Constellation necklaces feature a pendant in the shape of a constellation, with small gemstones or diamonds marking the positions of the stars. Moons and stars are also popular symbols in celestial jewelry designs and are believed to hold spiritual and cosmic significance.

Zodiac jewelry is based on astrology and the 12 zodiac signs. Like birthstones, each sign has its own unique symbol and meaning.

Whether you believe in astrology or simply appreciate the beauty of the cosmos, celestial and zodiac jewelry is a unique and meaningful addition to any jewelry collection.
